

Professional Standards Department

The Professional Standards Department is a stand-alone Department of Northamptonshire Police. The ACPO lead is DCC Nickless.

The department contains functions upon which other Command Units and the public interact. The department covers a variety of functions and is staffed by Police Officers and Police Staff all of whom work together to provide a professional and effective service for its internal and external customers.

